

Happier Parents, Happier Children, Happier World

This book is about family relationships. It is based on the philosophy that parents who are happier will have happier children. Calling on the fields of ontological philosophy, psychology, corporate coaching, primary school teaching and parenting, the authors offer new and compelling perspectives on effective parenting. This book is about more effective family communication and interactions with a focus on understanding self and others. It shows parents how to develop their own unique parenting style that meets the needs of all family members. Children who are raised in an environment where people are valued for their uniqueness will grow into adulthood with well-developed social, emotional and communication skills. They will have the power to change the world.
